

- Officer's that are the "on call" officers are currently staying at my house on the days that they are on call, so that they are close to the city limits. This is a temporary fix while we seek other options.

Note From the Chief

Please be vigilant when it comes to people calling, texting, and emailing for money. We have received and currently have under investigation a scam that cost a resident $8,900 dollars. We are involving State Police, The Attorney General's Office, and will assist them in every way possible to find the perpetrator(s). The investigation has led us across State lines thus far and we will be involving the local law enforcement from that area shortly. If you ever have a doubt that the individual that is requesting money from you may not be legitimate, please feel free to call us and we will try and assist you in every way that we can to validate the contact.

- Noteworthy Information & Activity:

- Officer Brandon Cook reported to the police academy as of September 15, 2024
- Officer Cook's Police unit was run into by a deer on the driver's side and an insurance claim has been filed.
- The Standard Operating Procedures have been completed for the animal control officer and a copy of them has been added to the city council member's box.
- Ordinance Officer Satter ran into a few discrepancies while trying to enforce some of our ordinances. I have instructed and she has begun to go through every ordinance we currently have in place. Satter is looking for ordinances that are out of date, worded in a way that needs clarification to enforce, and making suggestions on each one of them. After she has completed this process, she will be turning over her findings to the city council to review and start the amendment process should they see fit to do so.
- For the month of October in observance for Breast Cancer Awareness month you will see all officers wearing pink name badges, pink bracelets, pink boot laces, and pink "POLICE" patch on their back.
